Description

The most important tinsmith's workshop of the Kingdom in the 18th century, the Royal Manufactory of Bains-les-Bains is one of the best preserved French industrial sites near the spa town of Bains les Bains. The park with tri-centenary trees, the terraced gardens, the chapel, the castle and the authentic industrial buildings add to the place the quietness of a village "out of time". The Royal Manufactory of Bains les Bains still lives in the factory founded in 1733.

An 18th century industrial site with accommodation. Guests are therefore all entitled to a guided tour by the owner François Cornevaux.
